* Round up to the nearest whole number.

** Includes soil profile observation, slope measurement, and flood potential. Does not include percolation tests, system design or determining high groundwater.

Note: When two or more systems are used in conjunction with each other, fees will be determined by adding the point values of both systems. If the design criterion of a system specifically integrates the use of another system (i.e. pressure dosing an elevated mound system) then the fee will be based on the point value of the system whose design integrates the other system.
